Description

A 19th-century French coffee table made of solid fruitwood, likely cherry wood.The table features a rectangular top composed of wide wooden planks in a warm honey color, with a very pronounced natural patina. On one of the long sides are two drawers fitted with simple wooden knobs.The base consists of four straight, square legs and a single crossbar. The tabletop shows various signs of age, discoloration, and small irregularities that contribute to its authentic character.The table was likely originally designed as a low work or side table and can now serve perfectly as a coffee table.Dimensions: 178L x 78W x 53H
