Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Marble

Description

A 19th-century French equestrian sculpture in patinated bronze, a refined testament to the elegance and artistic mastery of the era. The work depicts an officer on horseback in a solemn yet dynamic pose, with great attention to detail in the uniform, the horse's tack, and the movement of the cape--elements that lend the composition a powerful visual impact.The bronze, finely chiseled and featuring a rich dark patina, rests on a substantial base of Imperial yellow marble with warm natural veining, which further enhances the sculpture's decorative presence. The combination of noble materials and masterful craftsmanship makes this piece ideal for classical interiors, professional offices, or prestigious antique collections.A decorative work of great charm, capable of evoking the taste and elegance of
