PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Anthropomorphic Bronze Ladle - High Middle Ages.

225 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Bronze

Description

Ladle (water dipper or soup spoon) made of cast and hammered bronze, dating from the High Period, circa the 17th century (Louis XIII / Louis XIV era). A beautifully crafted piece of folk art, representative of traditional French bronze work. Notable features:Anthropomorphic decoration: The top of the handle features a hanging eyelet adorned on the underside with a stylized face cast from a single piece, with clean lines characteristic of the period.Complete hanging system: The back of the head is fitted with its original double hook, allowing the utensil to be hung from the rim of a cauldron or a rod.Foundry mark: A recessed engraved mark (rosette/stylized flower) is present in the lower third of the handle.Manufacturing technique: Traces of manual filing on the reverse side and a spoon head with a hammered

Dealer

Le grenier du passé présent
Antiquité. Généraliste.
Tel : 0323700142

1 rue du Gué
Pavant 02310

patina.Condition:Good condition for a piece from this era. One carrying hook is missing (see photos). Very beautiful original patina, preserving the object's full authenticity.Dimensions: Length: 41 cm / Spout diameter: 11 cm.- This item is available for immediate purchase, payable via PayPal; we also accept bank transfer or French check.- We do not accept sales over the phone; sales will be conducted exclusively via email or through the Proantic messaging system.- We ensure our items are shipped with care, including insurance and tracking. Colissimo shipping costs for Europe Union 20EUR