Description

Country Table designed by Vittorio Introini for Saporiti in the 1960s-1970s, characterized by a functional and innovative design. The walnut-veneered wood frame offers a warm and inviting texture, while the tabletop conceals a practical storage compartment, ideal for storing everyday items. The clean lines and attention to detail reflect the artisanal quality typical of that era. In good condition, this table is a distinctive example of Italian design from that period, combining aesthetics and functionality in a piece suitable for a variety of living spaces.MOTATA0330082
