Description

An elegant Venetian nightstand from the mid-19th century, crafted from solid walnut with a splendid original patina. The piece features a compact and harmonious structure, typical of the artisanal craftsmanship of the period.The front is marked by three generously sized drawers, each fitted with turned knobs; the top drawer also features its original lock. On either side are two fluted pilasters, which lend the design a sense of verticality and refinement.The top protrudes slightly with a contoured profile, while the base rests on turned legs with flattened spherical feet, characteristic of 19th-century Venetian style.In excellent condition, with minimal signs of aging consistent with the piece's authenticity; solid structure and well-preserved finish.
