Description

A two-section sideboard made of solid fir in the Louis-Philippe style, dating from the first half of the 20th century. The upper section (height 138 cm, depth 40 cm) features two glass-paned doors with small panes, divided by wooden mullions, opening onto four adjustable interior shelves. The corners are flanked by columns with turned ball finials. The upper cornice features pyramidal finials at the corners, characteristic of the style. The lower section (height 89 cm, depth 64 cm) is closed by two solid doors with molded panels, fitted with ornate metal lock plates. The back consists of exposed fir planks, evidence of artisanal craftsmanship. The piece has developed a golden-honey patina typical of aged fir. Original black metal hardware is in place and functional. According to the seller, the keys and
