Description

A significant bronze sculpture depicting a lynx, created by the Finnish animal sculptor Jussi Mäntynen (1886-1978). Created in 1951, this sculpture revisits a subject the artist had already explored in 1938, albeit in a different composition. It stands out for the power of its volumes, its vigorous modeling--which reveals traces of the artist's work--and the stylization of its forms, with Art Deco accents.
