Description

A very rare model of a hotel doorbell; in fact, this doorbell features two bells, unlike the usual design, which typically has only one. It offers, so to speak, a double chime to wake the sleeping household. Its bronze base is decorated with foliage in an early 20th-century naturalistic style; the bells are made of chrome-plated bronze. To ensure both bells ring properly, they should not be tightened too much.Shipping available in France and internationally; contact me for details
