Description

Oil on wood, signed lower left: M. Lambiotte.Measuring 33.5 cm x 26 cm.Depicting a young woman reclining in an interior, painted around 1895.Maria Lambiotte Salkin, 1872-1943, a Belgian painter, draftswoman, and poet born in Brussels. She was a student of Frans Verhas, whose style bears striking similarities to her own painting. She primarily painted portraits, nudes, and dancers. She exhibited her works at the Universal and International Exposition in Brussels in 1910 and also at the Fine Arts Exhibition in Spa in 1914. She was the mother of the painter Émile Salkin (1900-1977), who would become Paul Delvaux's best friend; together with Delvaux, she exhibited at the Galerie Isy Brachot in Brussels. From 1939 until the end of her life, she traded her paintbrushes for a pen. Her poems
