Description

We are selling this charming sculpture by one of the most famous Moreaus--in this case, Auguste Moreau (1834-1917)--depicting a child or putto carrying a bundle of firewood on his back.It is neither a bronze, nor a régul, nor a terracotta, but rather an electrotype--a technique widely used in the 19th century. This technique involves depositing metal through electrolysis and results in a remarkably faithful reproduction.Superb condition.Signed on the base.Shipping not included.
