Description

An Italian walnut cabinet that opens with a drop-down door and rests on four ball-shaped legs. The architecturally designed interior features ten small drawers arranged around a removable central compartment. The piece is adorned with painted earthenware plaques, likely from Castelli, depicting lively landscapes, pastoral scenes, animals, and relief mascarons, while the drawer fronts are decorated with polychrome foliage motifs and feature rosette-shaped knobs. The plaque adorning the top was previously broken and has been reattached.Attribution: Castelli, probably | Period: 18th century | Origin: Italy | Material: walnut and painted earthenware | Dimensions: 51 × 28 × 34 cm | Condition: top panel broken and reattached; signs of age and wear
