Description

A beautiful antique oil lamp made of clear, hand-crafted glass, featuring an elegant silhouette composed of a circular base, a bulbous column with a twisted decorative motif, and a spherical reservoir at the top. The piece is fashioned from blown glass, with slight irregularities and a few trapped air bubbles--notably in the base--which attest to the traditional manufacturing process. The lamp possesses a simple, balanced form, characteristic of the antique glass household lighting once found in homes, particularly in the Provence region. A charming antique object that is both decorative and evocative of a bygone way of life. Condition: Very good overall condition. There are a few air bubbles in the glass of the base and slight signs of use. No major visible defects. Dimensions: Height: 25 cm. Material:
