Description

Small sideboard in lacquered and painted fir, from the Veneto region and dating from the early 20th century. The top features a refined faux-marble finish, which adds a touch of elegance to the piece. The structure is characterized by a curved front and sides, decorated with painted leaf motifs and scrollwork, which give the piece a dynamic and artistic appearance. The central door, adorned with the same decorations, provides convenient access to the interior. The cantilevered legs complete the design, ensuring stability and stylistic continuity. Ideal for those seeking a piece of furniture with historical and artistic charm.Product condition:Due to its age and wear, this product requires restoration and refinishing. We strive to present the actual condition of the
