Description

A beautiful, animated glass-mounted illustration depicting the 1878 Palace of Industry and Fine Arts, created for the Paris World's Fair, which took place from May 1 to November 10, 1878.This building, constructed of stone, iron, and glass, is representative of the industrial architecture of the era. It was remarkable for its exceptional dimensions (1,200 m long and 17 m high).The entrance portico was crowned by a sculpture by Élisabeth Robert.This print is presented in its original frame.
