Description

Omega Tri-Compax chronograph, reference CK 2279-4, in stainless steel, dating from approximately 1946. This model features a hand-wound movement, caliber 321 (based on the Lemania 27 CH C12), with a column wheel and chronograph functions (30-minute and hour counters). The 34.5 mm diameter case (excluding the crown) features a pressed caseback, straight lugs, and a smooth bezel. The silver dial has a patina, Arabic numerals, and syringe-style hands, with a tachymeter scale on the flange. The watch is signed and numbered. It is in perfect working order and in excellent condition. Serviced in our workshop, it comes with a two-year warranty.
