Description

Art Deco Sideboard in Rosewood with Geometric Marquetry - Circa 1930 An elegant, low Art Deco sideboard featuring a beautiful veneered rosewood front, enhanced by panels of contrasting geometric marquetry.This piece stands out for its understated, linear design--characteristic of Art Deco-era creations--with a front panel punctuated by symmetrical compositions.The two large side panels display a remarkable natural wood grain, accentuated by a glossy finish.They are adorned with rectangular inlays of light-colored wood, decorated with dark-colored wooden crossbars, forming an elegant diamond pattern.The central section is highlighted by thin strips of light-colored wood, adding an extra touch of refinement to the overall design.The metal lock
