PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Low Empire-style Sideboard In Walnut - Early 19th Century

680 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Wallnut

Width : 132

Height : 94

Depth : 56

Description

Low Empire-Style Sideboard in Walnut - Early 19th Century A very beautiful low Empire-style sideboard, dating from the early 19th century, featuring an elegant walnut front with magnificent grain and a warm, antique patina.This piece stands out for its understated and balanced architectural lines, characteristic of Empire-era furniture.The front is framed by two engaged cylindrical columns, adorned with molded rings, lending elegance and character to the piece as a whole.The upper section features a wide belt drawer, fitted with two brass pull knobs and a decorative central keyhole.The lower section opens with two doors featuring molded panels, showcasing the wood's superb natural grain. The doors are embellished with ornate bronze keyholes.The piece is topped by a wide

Dealer

Tino antiquites

Mobilier

Mobile : 0763127955

11 rue de bel air à l'huis laurent

Dun les Places 58230

rectangular top and rests on a solid base, emphasizing the sturdiness and balance of this piece of furniture.This Empire-style sideboard captivates with the beauty of its wood, its warm patina, and its harmonious proportions.It will fit perfectly in a dining room, an entryway, or an interior that combines antique furniture with contemporary decor.Period: Empire - early 19th century, circa 1800-1820.Wood: walnutDimensions:Height: 94 cmWidth: 132 cmDepth: 56 cmCondition: in good presentation condition with signs of use and marks of age.