Description

Baroque Wooden Frame, Carved, Gilded, and Lacquered - 17th CenturyA refined and elegant antique frame from the Baroque period (late 17th - early 18th century), made in Italy (likely in the Emilia region or central Italy).The piece features a pronounced shell-shaped structure, richly hand-carved from softwood, characterized by a profile of discontinuous foliage motifs. The decoration is distinguished by the rhythmic alternation between splendid carved and gold-leaf gilded sections and lacquered areas with a faux dark/tortoiseshell background, which create an exceptional chromatic contrast and a profound sense of three-dimensionality.The original patina, skillfully preserved, enhances the burnished luster of the gold and the natural wear of time, attesting to the object's authenticity and high collectible
