Description

An elegant pair of Tuscan candlesticks from the early 1800s, crafted from carved and gilded wood. The turned base--slender and harmonious--supports a distinctive, shaped parchment fan, a rare and charming decorative element typical of certain period pieces.The original patina and subtle signs of age enhance their authenticity and historical value, making them ideal for classic settings, period homes, or eclectic interiors seeking a refined, collector's touch. These decorative pieces have a striking visual presence and are perfect as mood lighting or as ornamental accents on consoles, tables, or sideboards.Sold as a pair.
