Description

"Every soldier carries the marshal's baton in his cartridge pouch," said Napoléon.Full-length statue of Napoléon Bonaparte as a commander. Late 19th to early 20th century. The Emperor, wearing a frock coat, is crowned with his famous bicorne hat, simply adorned with the cockade. Holding an Imperial marshal's baton in his right hand, he stands a top a rock-shaped pedestal on which are carved in relief 7heads of grenadiers in full dress uniform, along with the following two inscriptions: "Austerlitz" and "given by the Emperor." The statue consists of two parts cast in régul. Some signs of wear on the patina. Very fine presentation condition. Signed E. Rousseau on the right side.
