Description

12 linen damask napkins - Early 19th century A beautiful set of twelve pieces made of linen damask, of exceptional quality in both workmanship and material. Each napkin features a J-B monogram in the center, hand-embroidered in high relief and set within a medallion framed by a wreath of acanthus and oak leaves. The border features a neoclassical frame of laurel sprigs and a scattering of stars, clearly evoking the First Empire's taste for ornamentation and geometric designs. A design of great simplicity, ideal for refined reception tables. Condition: Very good overall condition; fabric washed and ironed (slightly off-white). Two tiny, discreet, very light rust spots visible in the corner of a napkin (see photo? Buy this item on our website? Additional informations and photos? Online payments ?
