Description

Important Art Nouveau vase made of acid-etched multilayered glass, from the "Eucalyptus" series by Daum Nancy, dating from around 1913.Developed around 1912-1913, this late naturalistic design by Daum was used for both vases and lighting fixtures.The multilayered glass, acid etching, and color contrasts evoke eucalyptus branches silhouetted against the warm light of a setting sun.The Nancy Museum of Fine Arts houses a lamp featuring a eucalyptus flower design dating from around 1913 (inventory no. 83.1.50.1-2).Standing 42 cm tall, this tall, slender vase perfectly illustrates Daum's technical mastery and his naturalistic and atmospheric approach characteristic of this period.Bibliography and comparative references:Daum Nancy, Art Glass & Crystal, 4th
