Description

Pair of large polychrome Chinese porcelain lampsAn elegant and decorative pair of large lamps made from two Chinese porcelain vases, presumably dating from the late 19th to the early 20th century.The vases feature rich polychrome decoration depicting scenes animated by horsemen, figures in traditional attire, banners, and landscapes, rendered in a vibrant color palette.Of particular interest is the decoration imitating ancient bronze, found in the ornamental bands and the sculpted relief elements, which creates a refined contrast with the polychrome figurative scenes.Both vases bear a mark in Chinese characters on the bottom.The vases were later converted into lamps, though they were not drilled. The electrical wiring is, in fact, reversible, allowing them to be restored to their original
