Description

This console presents a top with cut corners whose chrome metal frame encloses a clear bevelled glass; it rests on cylindrical uprights in solid plexiglas, punctuated with gilt brass rings. A glass stretcher shelf, also encircled by a metal frame, joins the legs at mid-height and offers a second display surface.The combination of plexiglas -- the star material of the 1970s popularised by American and European designers --, chrome and glass illustrates the decade's taste for transparent furniture, which seems to float in space and lets light circulate.Condition report: Good general condition. Translucent plexiglas with beautiful transparency, possibly showing fine scratches from use; brilliant chrome; glass with probable surface micro-scratches. An airy console, ideal in an entrance or behind a sofa.
