Description

Elegant round guéridon from Lucca, dating from the early 19th century, with a white marble top and walnut structure. The frieze beneath the top is veneered in walnut, while the three turned, ebonised supports are embellished with gilt capitals and collars. The table rests on a distinctive trefoil base with carved onion-shaped feet. The striking contrast between the black supports, gilded details and warm tones of the walnut lends the piece a particularly refined character.Origin: Lucca, early 19th centuryDimensions: diameter 75 cm, height 80 cm
