Tuscan walnut and maple Inlaid table dating from the early 19th century. The rectangular top with clipped corners is enhanced by a double string-inlaid border and a refined central maple marquetry panel featuring a floral design. The frieze, decorated with framed inlaid panels, incorporates a single drawer. The elegant tapered legs are adorned with delicate stringing and linear inlay, terminating in ebonised feet. The contrast between the warm tones of the walnut and the lighter hues of the maple lends the piece a particularly refined character.Origin: Tuscany, 19th centuryDimensions: 93 × 70 cm; height 78 cm
