Description

PTS919 - 2 antique double-leaf swing doors, made of solid wood, featuring a simple design but embellished with contoured paneling and decorative moldings.The door leaves feature an architectural composition divided into three sections: rectangular panels at the top and bottom, and wide central panels with a curvilinear profile, enhanced by molded frames.The surface retains an antique finish with gray-brown tones, traces of color, and an uneven patina that gives the piece an interesting, well-worn character. The doors have their own antique-looking frames.Origin: Rome
