Description

Machine-woven tapestry, Éditions d'Art de Rambouillet, France, 20th century,depicting "The April Concert," based on the 18th-century original from the Gobelins and housed at the Musée des Gobelins in Paris. The company "Éditions d'Art de Rambouillet" was founded in France in 1960; drawing inspiration from a technique already used in the 17th century to create tapestries painted on fabric, it developed an exclusive process for reproducing antique tapestries, thanks to the work of a team of stencil designers and colorists.233 x 177 cmBibliography:Éditions d'Art de Rambouillet, R.380, p. 25, ill.
