Description

A beautiful and rare pair of wingback chairs , known as "confessional" or "carriage" chairs , finely carved from solid walnut.Recessed armrests; curved legs.Upholstered in blue fabric on the seat, back, and armrests, with a matching cushion.The upholstery is slightly worn, and the tip of one leg is slightly damaged (likely from a small cat or dog).Dated to the Napoleon III period ; a high-quality craftsmanship from around 1870-1880.Height 115 / 150 cm Width 64 cm In my career as an antiques dealer, its the first time I've found a 19th-century pair ; most "confessional" bergères date from the 20th century !
