Description

Description: A delicate network of crackle patterns, like lace on the reflection, gives this small 19th-century oval mirror its distinctive character. On the wide, domed gilded wood frame, small, finely incised flowers are arranged in succession among supple stems and slender leaves. A frieze of small scrolls highlights the outer contour, while a border in shades of gold and reddish tones frames the wide-beveled mirror. The light catches the reliefs of the molding and highlights the delicacy of the floral design.The tin marks form irregular lines across much of the mirror surface. In places, they cluster into small, darker patches, particularly in the lower right section. Areas with soft, slightly amber-colored edges add warmth to the reflection. On the left side, the bevel reveals green, blue, and purple iridescence depending on the viewing angle. The reflection remains visible through this patina, whose pattern stands out more clearly in the darker areas.The gilding shows some scuffing and minor signs of wear, as well as a fine crack visible at the bottom of the frame. Its size makes it suitable for display on a small console table or as part of a wall arrangement with other paintings.DimensionsH 45 cm (17.72 in.)W 37 cm (14.57 in.)D 4 cm (1.57 in.)
