Wolfers Frères - Louis XV Rococo-style Silver Tripod Cup - Late 19th Century

1 400 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Sterling silver

Description

Wolfers Frères - Louis XV Rococo-style silver tripod bowl - Late 19th centuryA very beautiful silver tripod bowl by Wolfers Frères, crafted in the late 19th century in the purest Louis XV Rococo style.This bowl stands out for its dynamic composition and the richness of its silversmithing. Its oval-shaped, slightly scalloped bowl features a smooth, polished interior, accented along the rim by a design of radiating gadroons and rocaille motifs.The richly chased rim features a series of volutes, scrolls, and stylized shells, characteristic of the Louis XV ornamental repertoire. The contrast between the smooth surfaces of the bowl and the finely worked details particularly highlights the relief and depth of the decoration.An elegant openwork handle, composed of intertwined curves and

Dealer

MGA gallery
La passion de l'argenterie
Tel : +32 477 63 01 17

Rue Watteeu 9 et 25
Bruxelles  1000

volutes, rises from one end of the bowl and blends harmoniously with the overall composition.The bowl rests on three rocaille feet, also richly carved, which extend the sinuous lines of the decoration.A beautifully crafted piece, representative of Wolfers Frères' expertise in interpreting the great French decorative styles, with particular attention paid to the quality of the chiseling, the balance of volumes, and the richness of the ornamentation.CharacteristicsSilversmith: Wolfers FrèresOrigin: Brussels, BelgiumPeriod: Late 19th centuryStyle: Louis XV RococoMaterial: SilverShape: Oval tripod bowl with openwork handleDecoration: Rocaille volutes, stylized shells, gadroons, and scalloped borderLength: Approximately 23 cmWidth: Approximately 20 cmMaximum height: 8 cmWeight: 370 g