Description

A 19th-century oil-on-canvas painting depicting a lively landscape by Jean Baptiste de Jonghe. He was a great Belgian painter (1785-1844), known for his romantic landscapes featuring figures, herds, and ruins.He taught at the Academy of Fine Arts in Antwerp and at the Academy in Kortrijk. Awarded a gold medal in 1824, he received a commission for six paintings for the King of the Belgians. His work is on display at the Royal Museum of Fine Arts of Belgium. This is a beautiful painting from the Romantic school, depicting a landscape with a bridge, enlivened by a shepherd standing in front of a cottage against a magnificent sky. This oil on canvas is in excellent condition and is enhanced by its beautiful original gilded wooden frame. It has an original patina with no restoration whatsoever, which is rare for
