Description

This elegant 18-karat white gold ring captivates with its architectural design and the charm of its vintage-cut diamond. Set at the center of an octagonal bezel, the 0.90-carat stone captures the light with its wide facets. On either side, the setting features a relief design combining geometric lines, openwork motifs, and delicate beaded borders. Ten diamond roses punctuate this design and add an extra touch of sparkle to the piece. Dating from around the 1930s, this ring exemplifies the graphic elegance of the Art Deco style and the beauty of old-cut diamonds.Estimated date: circa 1930Metal: 18-karat white gold (750 parts per thousand)Hallmark: 750Center diamond: old-cut, 0.90 ct, estimated color G/H and estimated clarity VSAccent diamonds: 10 rose-cut diamondsRing
