Description

An elegant marble bas-relief depicting a romantic scene of courtship with stunning three-dimensional depth. In front of a charming arched doorway, an elegantly dressed young couple exchanges a tender kiss on the steps. The rich naturalistic setting is enhanced by precious allegorical elements: on the right, a small child sits on a low wall, pouring water from an amphora, while in the lower left corner, an elegant pair of swans is depicted. The work masterfully combines intricate detail with the fluidity of the figures. The reverse side reveals a very interesting construction feature: one part follows the sculptural contours of the vegetation on the front, while the right side is perfectly smooth, squared off, and engraved with a geometric border line.
