Description

The rectangular top in blond cherrywood, framed by veneer all around, slightly overhangs a delicately curved front apron. The four tapered legs of square section, slightly splayed, end in brass sabots that punctuate the silhouette and underline the finesse of the base.This elegant sobriety -- blond fruitwood, taut lines, brass accents -- is characteristic of the work of Jacques Adnet (1900-1984), a major figure of French classic modernism, director of the Compagnie des Arts Français, whose furniture of the 1940s combines rigour and refinement.Condition report: Good overall condition. Cherrywood with a beautiful blond patina, a few superficial marks of use on the top, brass sabots with an even patina. A discreet and elegant coffee table, which will blend into a classic living room as into a
