Description

An interesting bronze sculpture depicting a flayed man kneeling, his head bowed and his arms resting on his raised leg.The detailed modeling highlights the musculature, tendons, and facial features. The movement of the torso also allows one to appreciate the anatomical detail of the back, where each muscle group is carefully rendered.A beautiful medallion-like patina with golden highlights brings the reliefs to life and accentuates the chisel work.Dating from the first half of the 20th century, this bronze sculpture rests on a square pedestal, which in turn sits on a marbled stone base with shades of pink and cream.A collector's item that blends art and anatomy, ideal for a cabinet of curiosities or a library.Dimensions:Total height with base: 18 cm.Base: 9 × 9 cm.We deliver and ship
