Description

Renzo Salanti - Still Life with Fruit, oil on canvas, 20th centuryAn elegant circular oil painting on canvas depicting a lavish still life with fruit, by the Milanese painter Renzo Salanti, dating from the first half of the 20th century.The composition, which is particularly harmonious and decorative, features a distinctive woven basket at its center, filled with apples, pears, peaches, and bunches of grapes, skillfully arranged in a vibrant interplay of shapes and colors.In the foreground, several bunches of grapes and a single piece of fruit enrich the scene, lending it depth and a sense of naturalness.The painting stands out for the pleasant luminosity of the fruits, rendered through a warm and brilliant palette, with refined color transitions ranging from golden yellow to orange-red, and extending to the delicate greens and intense blues of the grapes.Particularly effective is the contrast between the liveliness of the composition and the dark background, which highlights the volume and chromatic richness of the whole.The painting is enhanced by its beautiful original circular frame, richly carved in relief with plant motifs and scrollwork, entirely gilded, which harmoniously complements the composition and accentuates its elegant and decorative character.A highly pleasing work, particularly suited to enhancing a classical setting, a dining room, or a refined collection of 20th-century paintings.Artist: Renzo SalantiTechnique: oil on canvasPeriod: first half of the 20th centuryDiameter of the painting: 54 cmTotal diameter with frame: 68 cmFrame: original, gilded, and richly decorated.
