Description

Double table lamp model "Tragara," designed by Otto Krüger in 1908. The lamp is made of nickel-plated metal and rests on a round, slightly domed base with a central stem. Two adjustable arms support conical shades in glossy white opaline glass, allowing the light to be individually positioned. The model was originally produced by Vereinigte Werkstätten für Kunst im Handwerk in Munich and was briefly reissued by ClassiCon Munich in the 1980s. Please note: We assume no liability or warranty for the electrical components.See: Charlotte and Peter Fiell, 1000 Lights 1878-1959, Vol. 1, Cologne 2005, p. 123.
