Description

Napoleon III-era console table with Boulle marquetry and gilded bronze - 19th century A rare and elegant ceremonial console table from the Napoleon III period, in the Louis XV style, featuring remarkable marquetry in the style of André-Charles Boulle, combining foliage and arabesque motifs on a black background.This console table stands out for its dynamic form, its rich decoration, and the quality of its gilded bronze ornaments.The scalloped band is adorned with sumptuous gilded bronze female mascarons, surrounded by foliage motifs and arabesques. The four curved legs are accented by long bronze finials featuring plant motifs and terminate in ornate feet.The piece is topped by a beautiful veined white marble top with scalloped edges, perfectly complementing the elegant lines of the
