Magnificent Vintage Sterling Silver Necklace - Cartier Agrafe Style - 30 Grams - Exceptionally Elegant
A wonderful discovery presented by Galerie De Cicco!
We are delighted to present this magnificent vintage sterling silver necklace, weighing 30 grams, whose design bears an absolutely striking resemblance to the famous "Agrafe" necklace by the prestigious House of Cartier, an iconic jewellery design associated with the 1990s and early 2000s.
This beautiful piece comes from a lady residing in Monaco, from whom we personally acquired it. We purchased the necklace exactly as it is presented today and were immediately captivated by its elegance, fine craftsmanship and astonishing similarity to the celebrated design by the renowned French jewellery house.

A Necklace of Remarkable Elegance

This beautiful necklace consists of a succession of rectangular articulated sterling silver links, providing excellent flexibility and allowing it to drape particularly gracefully around the neck.

Its central section features a magnificent decorative motif composed of a circular ring and hook, both delicately set with small faceted white stones, offering a beautiful sparkle reminiscent of diamonds.

Once worn, this necklace is absolutely stunning!

For those familiar with fine jewellery, the resemblance to the famous Cartier Agrafe necklace is truly striking. We have taken the time to compare the two designs and were particularly surprised by their similarity, both in the construction of the links and in the design of the central motif.

At first glance, when worn around the neck, one could easily mistake it for a Cartier necklace. Naturally, we wish to make it absolutely clear that this necklace is not signed Cartier and is not being offered as an authentic creation of the House of Cartier.

Another important detail: unlike the original Cartier design, in which the central motif serves as the clasp, our necklace features a separate clasp positioned at the back of the neck.

The necklace opens and closes using this small clasp, rather than the central motif, which is purely decorative.

An Original and Uncommon Piece

We have carried out various searches and comparisons and, to date, have not found another example strictly identical to the necklace we are offering.

This makes it a particularly interesting and unusual piece of jewellery. Although its maker remains unknown, its design demonstrates a genuine sense of aesthetic refinement.

For comparison, an authentic Cartier Agrafe necklace crafted in white gold and set with diamonds can command a price in the region of EUR20,000, depending on its particular version, condition and specifications.

Of course, our example is made of sterling silver and decorated with white stones whose exact composition has not been professionally identified.
Nevertheless, what a pleasure it is to enjoy such elegance, such a refined design and such a beautiful appearance when worn, at a considerably more accessible price!
