Granite Statue From Rajasthan, India--11th Century

2 800 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Stone

Width : 38cm

Height : 49cm

Depth : 10cm

Description

Rajasthan, India - 11th centuryA rare architectural fragment carved from granite, originating from an ancient temple in Rajasthan.Of superb quality. it is rare to find fragments with such fine carvings.The composition, which is particularly interesting, combines several levels of relief carvings arranged around a miniature architectural structure. In the center, a small shrine framed by finely carved columns houses a carved human figure. On the left, a richly depicted divine animal contributes to the composition, while the upper right features a figure seated in an elegant posture, accompanied by plant and ornamental elements.The piece as a whole attests to the richness of the iconographic and decorative repertoire of medieval Indian religious sculpture,

Dealer

Alain Michel Antiquité Bruxelles
Antiquaire généraliste
Tel : 00 32 253 782 04

Rue Henri Wafelaerts 41
Saint-Gilles 1060

where divine figures, secondary figures, and architectural motifs intermingle in a composition of great finesse.The reverse side, entirely marked by numerous incisions, also preserves unique traces of its creation and history.Through its sculptural treatment and architectural composition, this fragment offers an interesting insight into the monumental art of Rajasthan's temples during the medieval period.It comes with a very well-crafted Plexiglas base. The dimensions include the base.Shipping available to Belgium, France, and internationally.On display in our showroom at 41 Rue Henri Wafelaerts, 1060 Brussels, Belgium.More information and photos available upon request.