Description

Small French dining table in light oak from the early 1900s, Provençal style. The rectangular tabletop, with a contoured profile and a stepped, molded edge, is decorated with a parquet inlay that creates a geometric pattern. The apron is curved and rests on four cabriole legs ending in curled feet. The table is extendable: on the sides, you can see the guides for the sliding extensions, each 37 cm long, which allow you to increase the seating capacity. The wood features a warm, natural honey-colored patina.Period:early 1900sOrigin: FranceStyle: ProvençalDimensions: 103(177)x79x74h cmSKU: 17611
