Description

Giuseppe Riva Four Views of Milan, circa 1940 all uniformly framed with molded gold frames and white mat boards with gold borders. The first view, top left, shows a winter scene of Piazza Santo Stefanowith the Basilica and its bell tower, alongside the adjacent sanctuary of San Bernardino alle Ossa.In front of the churches in the foreground, market stalls enliven the Verziere Market.The view at the top right shows a glimpse of Corso Vittorio Emanuele with the Duomo in the background. Below, we see two views of the Naviglio canal within the inner city limits before it was covered over, likely near Via Senato and Via San Marco. All four works are characterized by rapid, impasto-like, and concise brushstrokes and bear the artist's signature in the lower right corner (in their natural orientation); they were
