Description

Stunning Maison Charles table lamp, "Nénuphar" model, dating from the 1970s.This elegant creation stands out for its remarkable botanical design in gilded and patinated metal, depicting a large water lily leaf with finely detailed veins, accompanied by blooming lotus flowers and buds.A slender gilded metal stem rises from the center of the composition and supports a large, dark brown rectangular lampshade, whose understated lines contrast harmoniously with the sculptural design of the base.The entire piece rests on a rectangular base, providing excellent stability to this particularly decorative composition.A lamp designed by Charles, showcasing the craftsmanship of this renowned French lighting house.A refined piece, straddling the line between sculpture and lighting,
