Description

Louis Pastour, Cannes, 1876 / 1848. A painter from Cannes and a native of Provence, he was part of the Post-Impressionist movement through his own technique: painting with a palette knife. A master of color and light, his favorite subjects were seascapes, flowers, and landscapes. He was one of the first artists to have his work sold by the young Maeght Gallery, located at 10 rue des Belges in Cannes, in 1938.The Musée d'Orsay holds one of his paintings, titled "Bouquet of Zinnias."This painting is in very good original condition, with an antique frame in good condition. The panel alone measures 33 x 24 cm.Shipping included for mainland France.
