Description

- A comfortable two-seater sofa upholstered in velvet fabric with geometric patterns and embellished with trim and tassels. - This sofa is upholstered in a dense fabric made of wool velvet and trim. It features geometric patterns reminiscent of those found on Persian rugs--stylized motifs in shades of ecru and blue on a rust-colored background. The cozy comfort it exudes takes us straight back to Victorian eclecticism, which loved to blend historical influences from the 19th century. - This sofa design is reminiscent of Renzo Mongiardino's interiors, such as the one at the Moratti family's Castello di Cigognola in 1982, which can be viewed at this link. - In good condition, with some signs of wear. - Dimensions - Width: 154 cm / Depth: 75 cm / Height: 93 cm
