Description

ORDERING AND ADDITIONAL INFORMATION FROM OUR WEBSITEAn elegant mantel clock in the Louis XVI style, dating from the Napoleonic III era, circa 1860. Made of Carrara white marble with rich, high-quality gilded bronze ornamentation. The design features two pairs of columns, embellished with bead motifs and draped with floral garlands. Volutes frame the clock face, which is topped by a pair of swallows in a nest. The space between the columns is decorated with a wide, elaborate garland of flowers and a decorative sunburst motif, along with a pinecone resting on the plinth. The base, rounded at the ends and curved at the front, is adorned with a bead motif and further embellished with numerous intertwined floral friezes that follow the shape of the base.

The domed white enamel dial is finely decorated with painted floral garlands; the time is indicated by gilded, engraved hands, all protected by a domed glass lens set in a guilloché bezel.

The original movement is in its original condition, unmodified. The clock strikes the hours and half-hours on an antique bell.
