PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Palampore Print, 19th-century Wall Hanging With Painted Accents, Coromandel Coast, India

780 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Linen

Description

"Printed Palampore, 19th-Century Wall Hanging with Painted Accents, Coromandel Coast, India" Magnificent Palampore from India,This antique cotton wall hanging, consisting of three panels sewn together, dating from the early 19th century, is adorned with a picturesque design depicting three pairs of Madras birdsProvenance: (Coromandel Coast), IndiaPeriod: Early 19th centuryIntended Market: Western marketsThe motifs are printed with hand-painted highlights, typical of textiles exported to European and American markets at the time.The printing and painted details are of remarkable quality, highlighting the skill of the artisans of the time. The colors are red and blue.In perfect condition, this piece is an exceptional example of the Indian textile tradition, sure to appeal to lovers of

Dealer

Galerie Rose Couleur

French antiques textiles

Mobile : 06 12 29 60 53

13, Les Arènes

Névian 11200

antique textiles and decorative arts.It measures 247 cm x 132 cm, making it an ideal choice for decorative use or to complement a"Palampore" is a term used to describe a type of cotton or silk textile, often painted or printed, that was produced in India during the period of British rule. In the 19th century, palampores were highly prized in Europe for their quality and exotic patterns. They were often used as bedspreads, curtains, or even as decorative wall hangings. The designs could vary considerably, ranging from floral motifs to more elaborate scenes, often inspired by nature or traditional Indian motifs.Palampores were generally handmade using elaborate dyeing and painting techniques, which made them unique and highly prized. The importation of these textiles had a significant impact on interior design in Europe and contributed to the popularity of Oriental motifs in Victorian-era interior decoration.ref 120924