Description

An iconic piece of modernist design, this LC1 "Rocking" armchair was designed in 1928 by Le Corbusier, Pierre Jeanneret and Charlotte Perriand, and is edited here by Cassina, the official reference publisher for the master's works. The signature affixed to the foot of the chair attests to the authenticity of this high-quality edition, likely dating from the 1980s-1990s.

The structure consists of polished chrome steel tubes assembled with rigorous geometric precision, forming four slender legs connected by a characteristic low horizontal crossbar. The seat, backrest and armrests are made of supple black leather suspended, offering enveloping and refined comfort. At the back of the armchair, the famous chrome spiral springs passing through metal eyelets give the piece its immediately recognizable silhouette and its natural rocking mechanism.

The general condition is very good: the leather displays beautiful suppleness with no notable damage, and the chrome appears clean and brilliant. A collectible piece combining design history and everyday use.
