Description

German table lamp from the 1970s, made of natural cork and dark-stained metal.The base consists of vertical elements covered in cork, separated by narrow metal profiles. The wide, geometric shade is made of curved cork panels mounted on a metal frame.Two light sources are located beneath the shade. When the lamp is turned on, the natural structure of the thin cork becomes visible.This design follows in the tradition of experimental German lighting design from the 1970s.Dimensions: 61H x 55W x 55D
